REGISTRATIONS

Licensed Professional Engineer in Tennessee, Georgia, and Virginia

Background

A fun fact about Terrance, he was born in his aunt's apartment in College Park, GA. He grew up in Jonesboro, GA, just 18 miles south of Atlanta. Terrance moved to Tennessee in 2007 when he attended the University of Tennessee in Knoxville and came to Nashville in 2009 upon graduation. He currently lives in Lebanon, TN and enjoys landscaping, traveling, following the Vols basketball team, and spending time with family and friends.

Experience

Terrance has 16 years of experience in traffic engineering, roadway design, and transportation planning and research. His traffic engineering experience includes traffic signal timing implementation, corridor analysis, road safety audits, and traffic simulation. His design experience consists of signal and ITS design, establishing vertical and horizontal alignments, open channel and closed conduit drainage, and construction quantities. Prior to joining Kimley-Horn, Terrance served as special projects coordinator for the University of Tennessee's Center for Transportation Research (CTR) within TDOT where he was the state's primary technical contact for bicycle and pedestrian related matters.
